Having Down for the British Royal Air Force, Czech pilot Franta Stina (Daniel Vetchy) finds himself imprisoned in a post-WWII totalitarian Communist Labour camp for "betraying" his country. Revisiting this story, award-winning director Jan Svěrák takes us back to when Franta and his young protégé Karel Vejtšek (Kryštof Hádek) escape Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia to join the RAF in fighting the Germans.

Frustrated at not being allowed to fly against the enemy until they can speak English and their RAF re-training is complete, a strong father-son bond between Franta and Karel quickly develops. After three months of training they are finally sent into combat, but the stress of the war, plus their mutual love for a married English woman, tests their strong friendship.

DARK BLUE WORLD is a story about love, comradeship and sacrifice told with the nostalgic sentiment of classic Hollywood movies and the romance and historical backdrop of World War II.
